Action plans for year 2008-2015

- To build capacity of mathematics teachers in Cambodia for all levels to meet regional and international standard.
- To improve mathematical curriculum.
- To adjust methodology of mathematics' teaching
- To prepare documents for studying, teaching, researching and publishing.
- To promote the use of ICT in mathematical educations and e-learning.
- To promote and participate in mathematical competitions in the country, region and IMO.

International cooperation:

- International center for pure and applied mathematics (CIMPA)
- International Science Program, Sweden
- Interdisciplinary Center for Scientific Computing (IWR), Heidelberg University, Germany
- International Centre for Theoretical Physics (ICTP), Italy
- International Mathematical Union(IMU)
- Southeast Asian Mathematical Society (SEAMS)
- UNESCO, JICA, VVOB, BETT
- Toyota Foundation, Japan
- The Niels Henrik Abel Memorial Fund, Norway.

Cambodian Mathematical Society (CMS) is a non-governmental, neutral, nonprofit organization founded by Cambodian Mathematicians and reconized by the Royal Government of Cambodia according to the letter No 220 ស.ជ.ណ. dated 04 March 2005.

Objectives:

- To enhance the research of pure, applied mathematics as well as mathematical education for the needs of Cambodian society, human beings and the whole world.
- To propose and implement the projects of mathematical research, to organize seminars and conferences, to collect for the record the mathematical documents and journals and publish them, and to cooperate with national and international organizations/institutions with similar aim.

Membership:

Both national and international mathematicians can be nominated as members of Cambodian Mathematical Society.

Administrative Council:

The council holds its annual meeting to review the previous activities, to propose the activities for the following year and for long-term period and to help finding financial support for CMS.
